A VETO ON VIDEO GAME

Our society is so computerized and dehumanized that kids do not need one more reason to avoid playing outside or going for a walk or talking with a friend. I would still feel this way even if there were nothing wrong with games whose objectives are to kill and destroy.

I know, I know. There are games other than those like Rampage, Robocop, Motor Cross Maniacs, Bionic Commando, Dr. Doom's Revenge, Guerrilla War, and Super Street Fighter. But aren't the violent games the one the kids love to play for hours? And hours. And hours. My son told me he likes the "killing games" the best, has not had much experience with "sport games," and likes "learning games" the least because they are "too easy". (Manufacturers take note.) My five-year-old daughter told me she enjoyed playing Duck Hunt at a friend's house. The beauty of this game is that even very young players can have the fun of vicariously shooting animals. And then there is the game with my favorite title-an obvious attempt to combine a graceful sport with exciting action-Skate or Die.

Use the information in the passage to answer the questions below.

We are the kind of parents who don't promote video games. We are among the ever-shrinking group of parents known as video game hold outs. We don't prefer to buy a video game set. I said you know you are not going to get Nintendo he said "I know I'm not going to get it from you, but I might get it from him, Alas, Santa, too let him down. I don't think that playing a video game now and then is really harmful to children. But the children I know are so obsessed with the games that they prompted at least one 2nd grade teacher to ban the word Nintendo from the classroom. When I asked my 7-year-old if the teacher wouldn't let the kids talk about the games because that's all they were talking about he said "no that's all we were thinking about." Our society is so computerized and dehumanized that kids don't need one more reason to avoid playing outside.
